FOR BETTER MAIL SERVICE

There are few public utilities more widely used in any given community or throughout the entire country than is the postoffice. And there is none for the effective operation of which it is more necessary than it is in the case of our mail service that the individual should have some knowledge of how it is conducted.

Many people think the activity of the postoffice is confined to the collection and delivery of letters and postcards with an occasional parcel thrown in for good measure. They would be surprised to learn how much of its attention is given over to other lines to the insurance of mail matters, collection of money, revenue division and many other and postal savings system.

Except that it should reach its destination as quickly as possible, it is many of us as a matter of fact, concern as to what happens to a letter when it has been dropped in the mail box. How many and what of operations are necessary to bring many persons before this letter is delivered into the box.

It is a question to which we give very little thought. The slightest thought and consideration as to what gives any thought either to the question of what the service may do to it, or to the least possible amount of work of getting this letter to its destination.

A COMMENDABLE STAND

In definitely repudiating tender to join the International Federation of Trade Unions, the American Federation of Labor consistently lives up to its name. It is an American organization concerned with advancing the cause of the working men of this country, and not promoting revolutionary plots against European governments.

Several months ago the American Federation issued a ringing declaration against bolshevism as the enemy not the friend, of the wage-earner. It showed how the Lenin dictatorship was one of virtual slavery for Russian toilers, who were denied not merely freedom of contract, but were compelled to labor wherever they were commanded by the government and at such wages as it chose to establish. The International Federation's activities have brought it under suspicion of being a firm of bolshevik propaganda. Certainly it is a prolific trouble-maker, seeking to foment class war in Europe and tear down existing governments by whatever means best suit its purposes. As soon as it perceived the true character of the foreign organization (the American Federation listened to sever any formal connection between them, and it now sees no reason to change its mind. If the International Federation really spoke for the workmen of Europe, if it were an honest and straightforward organization seeking to benefit labor, the American answer might be different.

In serving notice that the "American" in its title means what it says, the American Federation of Labor shows it is steering the safe, straight, loyal course to prosperity and the respect of the nation. An other good piece of work by the American Federation was rejection of the "one big union" idea. Of course, the scheme had no chance of endorsement, but it was gratifying to see the convention jump on it with both feet.

PROBING WAR CONTRACTS

Announcement that the department of justice is to investigate major war-time contracts will be welcomed by the country. The procedure has been announced to expose and punish those contractors, if any, who were guilty of dishonesty and to exonerate those not guilty, for in public estimation, as often expressed, it has been assumed that all war contractors made unconscionable profits. Doubtless this assumption has done violence to fact and the inquiry is intended to vindicate the innocent as well as point out and punish the offenders.

The department of justice will give its chief attention to an analysis of the large contracts for there is where would reside the greater opportunity for fraud through the fact that one had a big contract would not of itself be evidence of graft. The disposition to clean up government would not depend on the size of the contract but on the character of the individuals. Integrity is not a matter of wealth or a feature of the size of the business conducted but a personal trait.

It has often been charged that exorbitant profits were made in fact, during the government with war supplies and if there are those against whom the charge is well founded, they should be exposed and made to disgorge their ill-gotten gains.

The statement that it is found that the accounting records in hundreds of instances have been destroyed places the matter in a new light. Government records are supposed to be preserved and if they have been destroyed in hundreds of cases, the warranted presumption is to the effect that somebody had an interest in their disappearance. However, no innocent person has the least cause for fear of what may be revealed by the investigation. While those who through their organizations were able to supply the things for which the government's need was imperative were entitled to fair remuneration, if they performed on their privileges and exacted more than their due, coming to grief as a result, why can they blame?

ALL SOLDIER AID BILLS PUT OUT IN PAMPHLET FORM

(By Associated Press)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 25.—Texts of various soldier-aid laws passed by the California legislature and signed by Governor Stephens have been placed in pamphlet form by Chief Clerk Jerome B. Kavanaugh of the state assembly and sent to the American Legion posts and public libraries throughout the state. Milton J. Ferguson, state librarian, announced here today.

Hundreds of letters have been received by various state departments here from ex-service men requesting forms and blanks which will permit them to take advantage of the soldier-aid legislation passed by the legislature. Mr. Ferguson and To clear up misunderstandings, the librarian issued the following statement:

"The soldier-aid bills signed by Governor Stephens on May 30 are not yet in effect. Under the constitutional provision requiring 90 days to elapse after adjournment of the legislature before a bill becomes a law, the three measures which start the machinery for soldier aid in operation will not take effect until July 29. The fourth measure, which provides a $10,000,000 bond issue for the continuation of the work will not take effect until after it is approved by the people of the state at the general election in November, 1922.

"Some time will necessarily elapse after the laws become effective, before the benefits they provide will be available. The veterans' welfare board which is to administer the measures must first be appointed and organized and an administrative staff created which can care for the many demands which will be made on this agency. This will probably postpone the actual effect of the date of the measures to some time in early fall at the earliest.

"Benefits under the educational aid and the farm and home purchase acts will first be available. Benefits under the veterans' welfare act, which provides for opening soldier land settlement colonies, will be the last to become available because of the preliminary work of selecting and preparing colonies for settlement.

Any Day and Everywhere

SOMETHING new for the summer that may be worn any day and everywhere and fit in with all the most fashion backgrounds—that is what the prospective tourist is looking for. Something practical it must be, but it must be interesting at least. The new demand for these confessions, clothes, blouses, and evening gowns and styles. The clothes are becoming more and more practical, with long and narrow skirts, and long and narrow sleeves. The new demand for these confessions, clothes, blouses, and evening gowns and styles. Two perfect dresses for the summer outfit are shown in the picture. One of the lightest and most comfortable for the summer is the one on the left. It is a light-colored dress with a long and narrow skirt, and long and narrow sleeves. The new demand for these confessions, clothes, blouses, and evening gowns and styles. ## BALL UNIFORMS NOW SCARCE ON THE SAND LOTS

(By Associated Press)
BOSTON, June 25.—Young America is playing baseball this year in its warm clothes of its best uniforms are rare on sand lots and playgrounds. High costs have put the much-needed shirt, pants and cap in the class of luxuries.

The uniform outfit that sold for $2.50 before the war was marked at $8 when the season opened this year. The latter price prevailed last summer and while sales decreased from pre-war figures, the demand was fast. But after father's wages went down or stopped altogether last fall and winter, the uniform outfit that sold for $2.50 before the war was marked at $8 when the season opened this year.

aid laws is available in a pamphlet entitled "Soldier Legislation," prepared by Chief Clerk Jerome B. Kavanaugh of the state assembly, which has been distributed to American Legion posts and public libraries for reference use.

how sleeves. A wide, plaited ruffle on the blouse makes a frothy cascade of net down the front.
A light-weight, smooth wool fabric in a dark color makes the attractive dress on the right with plaited skirt and even jacket. It has short sleeves and is worn with a hand-made blouse of fine voile and narrow lace. The sleeves of the jacket are finished with a pretty bit of needlework.
In entering about for something new, the innovation of knitted dresses must not be neglected; they are pretty in the best times especially so, and are just drifting over the horizon of the fashion world. They look as if they had much to commend them—it must be conceded that they have novelty.

Dancing Party Frocks.
Dancing parties recently have shown some interesting little frocks with pronounced Oriental and Spanish touches. One costume of henna crepe, with Persian embroidery forming a large part of the straight, slim bodice, had the skirt opened in front to show a drop of sand-colored velvet. Oriental hair decorations heightened the effect of the East.

Lines in Veils.
There are several new "lines" in veils, one of the latest of these achieves a plaid effect by clever manipulation of the weaving. In another you find the dots graduated—large at the chin and smaller toward the eyes.
